

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 8, 1908.

The Balkan situation is becoming more alarming daily. Creta, heretofore autonomous under the suzerainty of Turkey, yesterday proclaimed her union with Greece by raising the flag of that country. Turkey has formally protested against the action of Bulgaria and has appealed for her rights under the treaty of Berlin, and asks for a conference of the signatories. The Porte also announces that she will protest Austria's acts. Great Britain opposes a conference, and urges Austria to reconsider the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Great Britain is unable to condone any infraction of the Berlin treaty. Russia serves notice that if there is to be a revision of the Berlin treaty, she will demand compensation. The Serbians are still clamoring for war against Austria on account of the latter's annexation of two provinces. Italy asks Austria to evacuate Novizza-Austria, and to renounce her protectorate over Montenegro. Russia, which was bottled up in the Black Sea by the Berlin treaty, now virtually demands that her men-of-war be allowed to pass in and out of the Dardanelles. The outcome of the present troubles is hard to divine. It is thought in some quarters that the sultan is about to lose his foothold in Europe. The "sick man's" empire has for a long time been looked upon as a house of cards which existed only by virtue of the treaty of Berlin. Some of the signatories at present are not disposed to regard this treaty as binding; hence present conditions.

The republicans in the present campaign are encountered with a heavy load in the shape of the empty dinner pail. Eight years ago when a spurt of business activity followed the depression of previous years, the party after appropriating the glory of the improved conditions to republican methods, had the full dinner pail painted upon its banners. The leaders now find themselves in a dilemma. After nearly twelve years of republican rule thousands of mechanics in every section of the country find themselves idle. More than four thousand men, former employees of the Steel Corporation's tube plant at Wheeling, W. Va., have been out of work for nearly a year, and they are justly laying the blame at the door of the ruling party. Soup houses have become a cruel necessity, and there is no telling how much suffering will be endured by the working classes before the advent of next spring. Such are some of the pictures now being thrown on the screen as a result of reckless legislation on the part of the republican party.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is again facing stubborn facts which flatly contradict some of his recent assertions. In the president's second letter to William J. Bryan, given out at the White House, September 27, Mr. Roosevelt said: "No preference or privilege was granted to any company (the Prairie Oil and Gas for instance) that was not granted to all others." The records of the Interior Department show that Secretary Garfield did exactly what it has been maintained by the president he did not do, as they made it plain that the secretary did grant to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company valuable leases on special conditions outside of his predecessor's rules and regulations of 1906, while denying similar treatment to a Wichita and other independent concerns having absolutely no connection with the Standard Oil trust. Now the president did not know of this procedure, or the official records of the Department of the Interior do not tell the truth.

From Washington

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette, Washington, Oct. 8.

Col. William F. Stewart was in consultation with his attorney today preparing his defense for presentation to the army retiring board this afternoon. It is understood that the colonel's complete health record since his entrance into the service will be submitted, as well as the testimony of a prominent local civilian doctor in opposition to the contentions of the medical members of the board that he is suffering from a dangerous affliction of the heart. Those who have seen the colonel's papers say that they show he has not been on sick report for twenty-five years, a most unusual record for any army officer. Col. Stewart desires to go upon the staff himself, and if he does he will offer to take the 90 mile ride, from which he was barred on account of the surgeon's report at Fort Huachuca, last month, at any time the board may designate.

The Interior Department denied today the published charge that the Standard Oil Company had been given special concessions in pipe line leases in Oklahoma, that have not been extended to independent companies. Assistant Secretary Pierce had a conference with the president on the subject. As he left the White House he declared that the correspondence between Secretary Garfield and the Prairie Oil and Gas Company which has been published with a view of calibrating the accuracy of the president's recent reply to Bryan, does not give the proper interpretation to the

The big barn of Mrs. John Shuey, on her farm at Port Defiance, burned last night. Origin of fire unknown. There was nothing in it except 1500 bales of hay. It was insured for $5,000.

The Middletown Mirror, a weekly publication of Middletown, Frederick county, has been launched. The paper is being printed at the office of the Strasburg News, and B. M. Bushong is owner and editor.

Elmer T. Thoraton has been awarded $3,000 damages in his suit against the city of Danville for injuries sustained by coming in contact with one of the city's electric wires while painting poles for the street car company. He was in the hospital for several months in a critical condition.

William H. Hodgins, foreman of the local wrecking force of the Southern Railway and one of the oldest employees of the company, died at the hospital at Danville yesterday as a result of a peculiar accident Tuesday night at Franklin Junction, where he had been called to clear the track of a derailed freight car. He was standing in the doorway of the dining car on the wrecking train, when the sliding door suddenly closed catching his head between the facings.

After entering a plea of guilty, Thomas F. Sager, a Frederick county distiller, was fined $1,200 and sentenced to serve thirty-two months at work on the public roads of Virginia by Judge Thomas W. Harrison in the Circuit Court at Winchester yesterday. Sager was indicted by the grand jury on 16 counts, for selling liquor illegally, and he was given two months in jail on each count. When sentenced was pronounced, he took a chew of tobacco and laughed out loud in court.

Dr. J. P. Jones, of Morricon, Warwick county, who was graduated from the University of Virginia last June, and who is regarded as one of the best athletes ever turned out by that institution, is at Emergency Hospital in Washington suffering from a fractured skull, the result of being struck by a street car about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Dr. Charles S. White was summoned by the hospital staff, and operated on Dr. Jones last night. The young physician is in a critical condition, but is expected to recover.

News of the Day.

The report current in Vienna that Crown Prince Constantine of Greece had been assassinated is discredited.

Mrs. J. Clayton Erb was arrested yesterday evening on a charge of killing her husband near Philadelphia, which crime Mrs. Catherine Delsel had confessed.

One fireman was killed and eight were injured in the collapse of the burning walls of a small grain elevator at Buffalo, N. Y., last night. The elevator and a flour and feed mill, owned by A. Nowak & Son, were destroyed, causing a loss of about $100,000.

Another thousand car order has been placed with the Standard Steel Car Company, of Pittsburg, by the Chicago and Alton Railroad. It is a duplication of an order placed a few weeks ago by the same road. The cars will, it is said, be made at the Hammond (Ind.) shops.

Lost in the Sierra Madre mountains, near El Paso, Tex., for nearly two days, J. M. Brown, of St. Louis, and his sister finally found shelter and aid when they were furnished and almost in a state of mental collapse. News of their predicament was received at St. Louis, Mo., last night by telegraph.

"I am going to shoot," said Marlin Dougherty, aged eleven, and he raised a double-barreled shotgun and fired both barrels into the body of William Lembo, aged thirteen. The two boys had quarreled and young Dougherty, thirsting for revenge, secured the shotgun and opened fire.

In attempting to start the machinery of his father's cider press, which had become clogged, Wilhelm Ruch, 27 years old, son of George Ruch, a prominent farmer of Flocks Corner, New Freedom, Md., was crushed and seriously injured yesterday by being caught in the shafting.

Returns show that Joseph M. Brown has carried the State of Georgia for governor by a plurality of between 60,000 and 80,000. Mr. Brown's only opponent was Yancey Carter, who ran on the independence party ticket. Brown ran as a democrat.

District Attorney Jerome at White Plains, N. Y., yesterday, in a fit of anger because Judge Mills refused to transfer the Thaw case from Westchester county to New York, withdrew from the case, seized his hat and valise and hurried out of court.

Charging that a monopoly exists among certain coal-carrying railroads and coal companies in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, the suit of the United States for the dissolution of the alleged coal trust was resumed before Special Examiner Charles H. Guilbert, of Philadelphia yesterday.

It is not improbable that before many weeks have passed, John R. Early, telegrapher of Washington, now isolated on the Eastern Branch, will be living with his wife and baby. Nothing definite is known of the places of the health office physicians, but it is understood from a trustworthy source that Drs. Woodward and Fowler are going to reunite the blighted family.

Night riders have made their appearance in eastern North Carolina. Monday night, in Nash county, they posted notice on a cotton gin, notifying the owner that if he signed another bale until the price advanced the barn would be reduced to ashes. Tuesday night, in Mir in county, over a radius of 8 miles, notices were tacked on different barns to the same effect. In every instance the notices were signed "Night Riders," with the inevitable bloody hand after the signature.

With simple services, Rev. Nicholas J. Scaritz was ordained minister and installed pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church, Fifth and P streets northwest, Washington, last night. This is the first time in the history of Washington that an Italian professing Protestantism has ever officiated as a minister of the gospel.

That the United States government may be sued and enjoined from infringing the patents of the Fried-Krapp Company, of Essen, Germany, in the manufacture of Springfield rifles and other army ordnance was decided by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia in an opinion by Associate Justice Robb, yesterday.

Twenty-five men were drowned as the result of the foundering of the French fishing schooner Juanita on the Grand Banks last week. The sole survivor, clinging to some planks for several hours, was brought to St. Pierre yesterday. He has lost his reason. The disaster occurred during a heavy gale.

Joseph Butler, colored, is locked up in the jail at Leesdowntown, Md., on the charge of killing Charles J. S. Gordon, during a fight which took place near J. J. Bohannon's store. Jealousy over Gordon's wife is given as the cause of the tragedy. Butler met Gordon on the street, and during the fight that ensued, Gordon was cut. He died from his injuries 24 hours later.

The contest of the will of the late Joseph F. Greenough, who died in 1906, in Boston, Mass., and whose estate was claimed by three women, all purporting to be widows, has been settled out of court. The terms of the settlement are not made public, but it is believed each of the three women is to receive a portion of the estate left by Mr. Greenough, estimated at $1,000,000.

John Hilgerson, 30 years of age, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon, by falling from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridge near the Cecil county side. He fell about 15 feet, striking the water with such force that his neck was broken. Earlier in the day, Hilgerson had fallen about the same distance into the water, but was pulled out and after changing his clothes resumed work.

Instead of turning over the body of Benjamin Andrews, the former well-known republican politician in Baltimore, who died in Washington on Tuesday, to either of the two women who are claiming to be his legal widow, Dr. Woodward, the health officer of Washington, has decided that the remains must be placed in a vault in Glenwood cemetery, near that city, until the courts have decided which of the two women has the better claim.

Several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds and jewelry disappeared from the trunk of Mrs. Mary E. Dulio, of 1730 Sixteenth street northwest, Washington, while it was enroute from her farm at Broad Land, Va., to her home. The Virginia authorities and the police of Washington have received a description of the missing jewelry. Mrs. Dulio, who is prominent in society in Washington and Virginia, and who owns a large estate in the Old Dominion State, is prostrated over her loss. Several pieces of the jewelry are heirlooms.

Concealed in a lot of old rags, which he brought along with the rest of the contents of the junk shop of his father, the late John Walter, of Frederick, Md., Lewis Walter found $1,800 in gold. He had bought the contents of the shop for $178 and was cleaning it out, so that he might vacate the building, which had been purchased by his brother, Dr. E. H. Walter. He had sold a lot of old iron and was about to sell the rags when it occurred to him that it might be well to pick them over. While he was doing so, a lot of $20, $10, $5 and $2.50 gold coins rolled out. The coins were bright and of dates ranging from 1876 to 1880. When counted, they were found to amount to $1,800.

With a concussion which shook the entire village of Richmond, Va., a large grain elevator, having a capacity of 600,000 bushels, exploded late yesterday causing the death of 11 workmen and 2 women. The explosion blew off the entire roof of the building, scattering timbers in all directions, and almost instantly flames burst out all over the structure. Twenty-one men were employed in the building, of whom eleven are missing and undoubtedly perished. All lived in Richmond. Mrs. John Jelliffe, who was walking with a companion along the Canadian Pacific Railroad track close to the elevator, and an unknown woman who was with her, were burned to death.

BASEBALL NOTES.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
THE BATTLE TODAY.
The regular season of the National League ended yesterday, with Chicago and New York tied for the pennant, as the Giants made a clean sweep of the Boston series. The disputed tie game with Chicago will be played off at the polo grounds today, and the result will settle the championship.

Ten thousand people camped at the polo grounds last night waiting for the final game which will decide the championship between the Cubs and the Giants today. Manhattan Field, adjoining the polo grounds, was covered with tents, and looked like a vast army waiting for the word to give battle to their enemies. Just before the game started a fight took place between McGinnity and Gleason, but they were separated by members of the two teams.

The game was called at 2:40. The batteries: Chicago—Pfeister and Kling. New York—Mathewson and Bresnahan. The New Yorks took the field first.

The Balkan Situation.

London, Oct. 8.—Irreconcilable differences between the great powers as to the programme for the proposed international conference to revise the treaty of Berlin today loom up as the most serious menace in the Balkan situation. Dispatches from the various chancelleries show that the powers are hopelessly clashing and the prospects of a peaceful conference momentarily decreasing. The present crisis bids fair to disrupt the new understanding between England, France and Russia.

The British foreign office announces that it will not agree to the consideration of any features of the treaty except the existing issues, which would preclude the possibility of Russia gaining free access to the Bosphorus and Dardanelles.

France and Russia are demanding a complete revision of the treaty, an entirely new treaty, in fact, giving them a larger share of the Balkan advantages.

Turkey has indicated that she will insist on a heavy compensation for the loss of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and says that unless the conference is held and her demand granted, she will act herself.

The defiant attitude of Germany and Austria, still linked together in the mass, is another ominous sign. These powers ridicule the idea of the annexation being set aside and even declare that it is not a subject for the conference. They will not join in the conference unless the other powers accept their position that the treaty has not been violated by Austria's action.

London, Oct. 8.—Unless Austria beats an ignominious retreat from her present position, Turkey will declare war, according to the statement to the United Press today by a member of the Turkish Embassy, who, for obvious reasons, would not permit the use of his name.

Athens, Oct. 8.—Desiring a union with Crete and the friendship of Turkey at the same time, Greece is today confronted with a perplexing problem by the action of Crete in throwing off the suzerainty of Turkey and declaring a union with Greece. The Greek government admits that it would have preferred Crete delay its action until the present Turkish tangle is cleared up.

Belgrade, Oct. 8.—The announcement of the resignation of the Serbian cabinet, under the premiership of M. Vekimirovic, is expected to be made at the opening session of the Skupstina on Friday. The cabinet is known to favor peace and to be at variance with the overwhelming sentiment of the country.

Communications are passing today between Servia, Roumania and Montenegro, looking to an anti-Austrian alliance. The latter two have declared the Berlin treaty no longer binding upon them as a result of Austria's "flagrant violations" of its provisions.

Canea, Oct. 8.—The Moslem residents of Crete have armed themselves and are today pouring into Canea, threatening to undo the secession from Turkey. A clash between them and the adherents of the Greek church. The Moslems fear that a union is imminent with Greece will result in a restriction of their religious liberties. The Moslems, however, are greatly outnumbered.

Vienna, Oct. 8.—Albania has declared her independence of Turkey, according to a report that reached Vienna today. Albania is a mountainous country of European Turkey bordering on the Adriatic. It has a population of about 2,000,000.

Constantinople, Oct. 8.—The cruiser Medjedieh and three torpedo boats were today dispatched to Samos, which is reported to be on the verge of declaring her independence. Samos is an island off the west coast of Asia Minor, forty-two miles southwest of Smyrna. It is an autonomous municipality, but has been compelled to pay tribute to Turkey.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—A message to the Lockal Anzeiger from Scutari, Asia Minor, says that the Albanian magnates met in that town and declared Albania to be an independent republic.

Belgrade, Oct. 8.—Several scores of persons were injured here today in a clash between the police and a mob during an attack on the office of the foreign ministry. The mob was incensed at the week note of protest sent by the ministry to Austria and set out to be revenged. The police used their sabres on the crowd and were assailed in return with stones and clubs. The second reserves were called out today, being added to the 120,000 first reserves that were called out by a royal ukase on Tuesday.

Budapest, Oct. 8.—Denying that the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina was for territorial expansion, and expressing his best wishes for Turkey, Emperor Franz Josef addressed the Austro-Hungarian delegat on today. The emperor closed his address by urging liberal military appropriations, declaring it impossible for his country to carry out its reforms unless well armed.

Belgrade, Oct. 8.—Austrian troops today occupied the Yeksa Tunnel on the Austrian frontier and are holding up all troop trains from Serbia. Fearing an invasion by Austrians, the Serbian government today ordered the removal of the headquarters of the war and foreign offices, the general staff offices and the national bank from Belgrade to the interior. A war council has been summoned for tonight to consider a declaration of war against Austria.

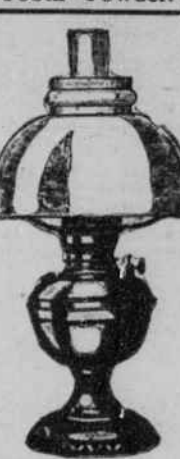

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—The Russian circular note to the powers protesting against the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina will be issued tonight, according to the latest advice from the Foreign Office. Public opinion strongly supports the government in its protest against Austria and just as strongly approves of Bulgaria's declaration of independence.

Wedding.
Baltimore, Oct. 8.—An event in society today was the marriage of Max Cerris Warfield, eldest daughter of ex-Governor and Mrs. Edwin Warfield, to Mr. William Hugh Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Harris, of Birmingham, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at Oakdale, the beautiful ancestral estate of ex-Governor Warfield, by Rev. John Timothy Stone and was followed by a breakfast.

Coadjutor Bishop of Baltimore.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—It is reported today on high authority that Bishop Denis J. O'Connell, the present rector of the Catholic University, is to be coadjutor bishop of Baltimore and that Vicar General Owen B. Corrigan is to be auxiliary bishop of Baltimore. Announcement of the appointments is expected to be made by Cardinal Gibbons upon his return to this city. According to the source of information, the change will not take place until the beginning of next year.

Three persons were injured and fifty narrowly escaped death today when a trolley car descending the grade near Lyndon, Pa., left the track and would have plunged into the creek 75 feet below had it not been for a tree. One person was badly hurt and may lose his right.
